BALTIMORE, MD., July 21.-Oa their perilous march to the Camden station last night the Fifth Regiment were assaulted, as stated, near the depot, by missiles of every description when it is known that thirty men were severely wounded, some of them seriously. When it is known that not a single shot was fired by a member of the regiment during the trying ordeal, the strict discipline and forbearance of the command, both as a body and individually can be full appreciated. Surgeon W. H. Crim was on duty during the night attending the wounded. Among those most seriously injured are Licut. W. H. Rogers, severe gash over the eye Lieut. Forney Spear, head cut; Cap. W. P. Herhert, Sergeant Armstrong, Corporal Reywood and privates Lewis and McKensie, all injured with bricks or stones; private R. R. Price, wounded in the head; private Geo. Wanderly, wounded in the head and ankle, McKenzie, struck in the head; A. Lewib, also wounded on the head He was struck four times, but is not dangerously hurt; Shurry Flack and Robt. BALTIMORE, Mp., July 21--11:15 a, m .-Camden station, where the main office and depot of the Baltimore and Ohio R illroad Company is located, on Camden street, is in the 15th ward. The Mount Clare workshops are in the Is h ward, and the tracks leading to Incust Point, the shipping and freight centre, pass through the 18th and 17th wards, in which atter Locust Point is situated. The elevators in I steamship wharves are here. This expla agricon is given in case of future disturbance. The first outbreak in the strike on Monday last was at Camden junction, outside of the city hunts, followed by that at Riversido junction, or round house, in the 17th ward, in South il dimore. Вактиоки, July 21--11:30 а. т.--The frout of Chenowith's saloon, southeast corner of Ba'Quore and Holliday streets, is the object of much interest this morning. Four bullet holes in the large plate glass window are evidences of the ferrific scene that occurred at that corner last night. A crowd of people are constantly standing in front of the windows. One hale to the large front glass is about two inches in diameter where the fullet passed through, and the grazed woodwork in side shows its course de reards. A musket ball passed through the heav, wonden shutters of the fishing tackle tors of Joseph Dakehart, No. 130 West Baltiarere street, and shattered one of the panes of slass. Another ball penetrated the large plate lass windows of the eigar store of John Hanna, so, 132 West Baltimore street, badly breaking a. Two pistol balls pierced the front windows the Vienna Cafe, corner of Posteffice Aveand Baltimore street, and imbedded themselves in the rear wall. Several persons were at the lunch tables at the time and made nar row creapes. About 8 o'clock this morning the work of removing the bodies of the dead from the middle police station to the homes of he deceased was commenced. Each body was placed in a casket and then carried by the popanful silence was noticeable in the large crowd assembled about the station house. CHMBERLAND, MD., July 21-6.30 a. m .-

Barrimone, Mo., July 21-12.15.-The Board of Police Commissioners have called out and are organizing a special police force of five hunnred true and reliable men whose selection has been entrusted to some of the leading business men of the city. Gov. Carroll has his headquarters at the Mayor's office in the City Hall. Last night at half-past 1 o'clock when the most serious consequences of the riot were apprehended, Collector Thomas ordered the revenue cutter Ewing, lying in the harbor, to proceed to Locust Point to protect the Government bonded ware house on the wharves there. In half an hour after receiving the order Captain Fengar of the Ewing had steam up and his vessel was at anchor near the whatves with her guns trained on the approach A squad of men from Fort Mellenry were also sent by General Barry at the request of Collector Thomas and guarded the bonded warehouses which are general warehouses con taining vast amounts of goods, through the night. The Ewing and squad from the fort are still on duty and should future indications all remains quiet, but preparations are being made for any emergency which may occur tonight, before which time no violence is looked MARTINSBURG, W. VAs, July 21-11.50 a. m. This place remains very quiet. No freight trains have been started yet, and in the absence of Col. Sharp at Cumberland it is difficult to find out the intention of these in charge of the od trains. About 50 men who went west on trains returned on the Cincinnati Express train early this morning from Cumberland where they were compelled to leave their duties. Up to this morning only two west bound trains had gone beyond Comberland and to Keyser. All he others are lying at Cumberland without hands to run them. The passenger trains are uregular, the express from the west having been. wore than two hours behind time. The train the from Baltimore at half-past 10 has not get arrrived. It appears useless to start uny more freight trains westward until sufficient force is concentrated at Cumberland to assure their passage beyond that point. the transportation of freight over railways. BALTIMORE, MD., July 21-1:30 p. m.-The passenger trains from Camlen Station have stopped running again, only three, one for the West and two for Washington, having gone out to day. The engineers and firemen of the passenger engines all refuse to work, assigning as a reason that they do not consider it safe to run over the read. The last passenger train left for Washington at 9:30. The tracks of the road are crowded with people between Camden Station and the passenger engine round house, located near the Spring Gardens. A large number of engineers have congregated in the vicinity of the round house, but none of them can be induced to take out a train. The crowd in front of Camden Station is not as large as it was this moraing, but as it diminishes the number of strikers on the tracks below the depot increases hourly. The soldiers have all been withdrawn from the street and are quartered in the depot. The officers of the regiments do not apprehend any outbroak before night, but the majority of them anticipate trouble then. The attitude of the strikers is very defiant, and threats of vio lence to the railroad officials and military are loudly expressed.

BALTIMORE, MD., July 21.-The following proclamation has been issued:

The Governorship.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.] RICHMOND, July 20 .- The all-engrossing topie is the contest for Governor, and did one listen to the "bold assertions" of the various candidates, he would come to the conclusion that Virginia next year would beast five Governors. The Daniel men are confident, the Mahone men are certain, Holliday's supporters are sanguine. Taliaferro's adherents know that he is the coming man, while Fitz Lee's adherents are positive that he will get the nomination-and so they go. After a careful survey of the field and calmly weighing the opinions of those who should know best, the conclusion reached is, that Mahone, Holliday and Daniel are the real competitors; that it will almost be impossible to harmonize the interests of these contestants, and that a compromise candidate will be taken up, in which event W. H. F. Lee will stand the best chance. He is the choice, after the "favorite, of all the Southside; is honored not only on his father's account, but for himself, and would, in case of a failure to secure the nomina-tion by either of the three gentleman named above, to hailed with enthusiasm as the candidate. There is some talk of a combination, in which event it is not unlikely the ticket proposed would be Mahone for Governor, Taliaferro for Lieut. Governor, and Fauntleroy, of Winchester, for Attorney General. Some trouble is anticipated in case it should be attempted to construct a platform for the nominee, and upon this rock there may be a split, though it is hoped that the precedents set by conservative conventions since the war will be adjaced to, and that trusting to the integrity of the man who is to be put at the helm and who must feel a pride in making his administration redound to his future honor, all resolutions as to what will or will not be done will be omitted. The best that can must be done, and that's all.

RUNAWAY-CHILD KILLED,-On yesterday Wednesday) about noon, just as we were putting our paper to press, a sad accident occurred near our office. Mr. S. Shacklett's team of two horses were standing in the alley running from East Market street to Elizabeth street, while the driver was unloading hay from the wagon to which they were attached. By some means they became frightened, and ran down the alley towards East Market street at a fearful rate. In running they knocked down T. O. Sterling, who Gen. French was ordered last night to send all the troops he could spare to Baltimore, and he Sterling, they ran over a little colored girl, child of Henrietta Smith, aged live years, the tongue of the wagon striking it on the back of the head. dashing out its brains and producing instant

THE ARLINGTON FEFATE .- In the Circuit Court of the United States, at Norfolk, the following order was entered Thursday:-

George W. C. Lee vs. Frederick Kaufman and others.—Suggestion having been made by the Attorney-General of the United States that the property in controversy in this cause is in the use and possession of the United States, under claim of title of record, and such suggestion having been filed, together with a motion for these reasons, to set aside the declaration and to dismiss the preceedings, and for such other orders as may be proper, as more fully appears by such suggestion and motion on lile in the office of the clerk of this court at Alexandria, Ordered that a rule issuerequiring the plaintiff to show cause, at the court-house, in Alexandria, on the 4th day of September, 1877, or as soon theresfor as counsel can be heard, why such motion should not be granted, provided that such rule be served upon the plaintiff or his counsel on or before the 1st day of August, 1877. It would seem from this that the Attorney-General will raise the plea that the Arlington estate is held by the United States and that as an individual cannot sue the government, the present suit must be dismissed.

ROBBERIES .- A negro man entered the shop of Mrs. Gorham, near the Midland depot, last night, and wounded. The Ottoman loss was comparativeed in a short time, and while Mrs. Gorham's attention was called to another room, he robbed the money-drawer of two dollars and took his departure. The robbery was soon discovered, the negro pursued to the depot, and the money recovered. Upon making restitution he was allowed to proceed on his way, and when last seen was walking rapidly up the railroad

A colored man named Phillip Romans made com plaint at the station house this morning that he had been robbed of $27 in money at the house of Robert Carter, also colored, on Gibbon street, near Fairfax, last night. He says that he stopped there all night, further states that a window of the room was open completed by the next General Assemby. It in that way and taken the money.

A PLEASANT EXCURSION .- One of the most pleasdirectors and officers of the elegant steamer Vanderbilt to their numerons friends last night. All the participants seemed thoroughly to enjoy themselves, as the officers left nothing undone to make each and every one have a charming time. Music and danc-ing added greatly to the enjoyment, and, as usual on such occasions, time seemed too quickly to take wings unto itself. No boat ever had a more obliging and polito tet of officers, and all who were on board last night feel deeply indebted to them for their uniform kindness and attention. It is understood that a family excursion will be given on the steamer on Tuesday, 31st instant, to Piney Point, to be managed on the subscription plan, and parties wishing to make this pleasant trip can leave their names at the HOOK AND LADDER EXCURSION .- On Monday evening the annual moonlight excursion of the Relief Hook and Ladder Company to Mar-shall Hall will take place. SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE. WASHINGTON, July 21 .- One of the most thoughtful public men in the Union said to-day that the Genesis or going forth of new political issues seemed to have for the past quarter of a century begun in the Virginia mountains. The John Brown raid opened the path in which the radical republican party fought to success through war, and, in the same neighborhood has begun the strife which is to disunite political parties for at least the coming campaign. The old party bases, growing out of the slavery controversy, have been long melting away, but the railroad strikes snow how urgent is the ne cossity of settling the pending figancial questions, and grappling with the mighty problem of the relations of capital and labor. This week, he said, has decided the the question on which will be fought out the party strifes of the residue of this century.

Obituary.

Died, at the residence of Wm. E. Moore, near Vienna, in Fairfax county, on the morning of the 16th inst., Mrs. ELIZABETH J. TROTT, relict of the late Elder Samuel Trott, in the 70th year of her age. The death of this good woman leserves more than a notice of the date of death and age. In all her circle of acquaintance she was beloved, and her many decds of kindness, her attendance by the bed of the sick, her midnight vigils by the couch of the dying, her comforting words to the allieted, and her many acts of charity will long be remembered. If the deads of the good live after them then has this noble woman left a record worthy of imitationa model by which the rising generation of womanhood may well take pattern. Having early embraced religion, she joined the Baptist church, the church of her first and last choice, and her life exemplified that of the true Christian, and in her last moments she gave evidence that she had chosen the good part, telling those watching by her bedside, "all is well." The triumph of a Christian over death was never more touchingly and beautifully illustrated than at the death bed of Mrs. RUPH RATCLIFFE, who died Tuesday evening. She was surrounded by friends and relations, and after calling each one separately to her bedside and bidding them farewell, she addressed them collectively, telling them how happy she was, and urging all to endeavor to meet her in Heaven. After she had finished speaking, though tho-roughly prostrated by disease and the extreme heat, strength was given her to sing two hymns -"I want to be an angel" and "The Promised Land"—in the most beautiful and affecting man-ner. She was in the 21st year of her age, and leaves an infant daughter. She was the daughter of the late John Fornshill, and enjoyed the love and confidence of a large circle of friends. She was sick only one week, and is represented as having suffered intensely.

A GREAT CONVENIENCE.
